<th>Great Britain: Pneumatic Despatch Company Ltd., £10 share, 1860, #424, attractive black printing, red overprint first issue. This was an attempt to move mail for the Post Office underground by means of a tunnel railway. The tube was just large enough for a man to be carried and was first used to move mail from the sorting office at Eversholt street to Euston Station. The network was extended down to Holborn in 1863 and in fact the line can still be seen under the Spink offices which used to be a main Post Office. Several trials of the system were used but the Post Office declined to put the system into full operation and the company was liquidated in 1875. AEF. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer’s Premium. Lot 507
(x) U.S.A.: North American Transportation and Trading Company, $100 Shares, Chicago 19[00], #B744, green, original signature of Michael Cudahy as President and issued to the South African Gold Trust Limited. Michael Cudahy (1841-1910) revolutionised the meat industry by using refrigeration in meatpacking and preservation so that this business, that was until then limited to the winter months, could now be operated continuously throughout the whole year. After selling his business, he invested in other companies where again he showed his talent for profitable investments. His North American Transportation and Trading Company was a pioneer in steamboat transportation on the Alaskan river Yukon, where it operated a fleet of 15 ships. When the Klondike Gold Rush broke out, the company was in the quasi-monopolistic situation. Not only able to provide prompt and rapid transport from Seattle to Dawson, the centre of the gold rush, but, even more profitably, it was able to sell the passengers the needed supplies. At the end of the Gold Rush, Cudahy sold his company to Northern Navigation Co. EF. Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer’s Premium.

Lot 515

U.S.A.: Stanley Aerial Navigation Company (CA), $1 shares San Francisco 190[1], #1027, 'Justice' seated in centre, black, green underprint, gold seal. Company formed in 1899 to build an airship to Charles Stanley’s design. The aluminium body was to be 228 feet long and 56 feet in diameter and filled with gas, enough to lift its 13,000 pound weight. Nothing had been built by the time the company passed to the newly formed California Aerial Navigation Company in late 1901. However it seems Stanley was more interested in selling stock than building his craft as another company, the Mexican Aerial Navigation Company was formed in Arizona for the same purpose. Not to be confused with the Stanley Airship that successfully flew in England we can find no record of Charles Stanley ever producing his. GVF and scarce. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer’s Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.
