Corporate Seal of the Bank of England featuring Seated Britannia, crowned monogram of William and Mary above, Bank of England in hand-written font below, edge milled, 15.98g, 12h (Spink K4A [4314A]), brilliant uncirculated, very rare, with Royal Mint Case of Issue and Certificate of Authenticity no. 0091 It is not known precisely how many of these intended 1,000 gold Proofs were issued before the Royal Mint noticed the error and requested original purchasers return the coins for a correctly-struck replacement in July 1994. However general thought is that no more than 400 pieces entered circulation, this evidently being one of the first pieces to do so before the mistake was realised. Since the landmark sale of an uncertified example in our industry-defining 'UK Lockdown Day One' auction on 24 March 2020 (lot 506 - £2,728 ~ $3,130), approximately a dozen more examples have surfaced. Nevertheless the well-noted variety remains a prized rarity and highly sought after thus Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.

Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth of York's Personal Specimen Set - As Presented upon Her Visit to the Bank of England on 29 November 1937 | George VI (1936-1952), Royal Presentation Coronation Specimen Set, 1937 (15), Crown to Farthing, including Maundy Set (Spink PS16), darkly cabinet toned, the silver with brilliance and extraordinary iridescence beneath, a faint historic marks before the face of the King on the Halfcrown, otherwise all practically as struck, of historic and national significance, a remarkable and prestigious Royal Offering in celebration of Her Majesty the Queen in her Platinum Jubilee Year unavailable since privately transacted with Queen Mary of Teck in October 1948, UNIQUE, in original Royal Mint case of issue, marked on the inside lid 'E. 1937' and accompanied by a pencil note in Her Majesty the Queen's own hand (15) Provenance Privately held by the Spink family since 1948 H.M. Queen Mary of Teck, sold by her, by private treaty to Spink, Thursday 7 October 1948 - £25.0.0 [accompanied by a facsimile of the cancelled cheque] Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth of York, by gift of the Bank of England, 29 November 1937 [as noted by the Pencil notation on the inside lid, and the accompanying pencil note: "Elizabeth Bank of England 1937" This specimen set of coins depicting King George VI was for a decade in the possession of Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth of York, the future Queen Elizabeth II between the year of her father's Coronation and the year after her marriage to her 'strength and stay', His Late Royal Highness The Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. It would be gifted to her by Governor Montagu Norman, during an 'informal visit to the Bank of England' on Monday 29 November 1937. The then Princess Elizabeth, had recently become heir presumptive to the British throne following the unexpected coronation of her father, King George VI on 12 May 1937. The previous year had been especially turbulent for the Royal family, not only would it endure the unhappy loss of a much loved 'Grandpa England' and founder of the House of Windsor, King George V, but then suffer the public scandal of the Abdication crisis that saw Edward VIII sacrifice his destined Royal duty in favour of marriage to American socialite and divorcee Wallis Simpson. The dedication to public duty and service for which Her Majesty the Queen is rightly lauded as having performed throughout her life, would become instilled in her from an early age. Her Majesty's devotion to her people has been witnessed not just in peacetime but also in war. Her selfless duty as a member of the Auxiliary Territorial Service during the Second World War, has been all too easily forgotten but is now rightfully remembered within the recent international celebration of her continuance as Head of State for longer than any other occupant of St Edward's Chair. Significant influences in her childhood would come from her mother, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, and prior to her death in 1953, her grandmother Queen Mary of Teck. It would be the latter who would accompany the 11-year old Princess and her sister Princess Margaret to a 'tour of the Bank of England building that lasted three quarters of an hour' in November 1937. The impromptu visit was marked by the presentation of this set of coins, appropriately reflecting the recent coronation of His Majesty King George VI, and her beloved father. Whilst social historians may bemoan the lack of fingerprints across their brilliant surfaces, the exquisite toning and faint superficial marks that once provided such enjoyment to a careful young Princess can now be appreciated and bewondered by numismatists around the world at this unique public auction, one of very few numismatic items ever to enter the private domain from her immediate sphere and in the view of Messrs. Spink & Son a fitting celebration of Her Majesty the Queen's remarkable personal and indeed public achievement at the occasion of her Platinum Jubilee. An enduring icon for generations around the world, and an inspiration to those of all faiths or none, Her Majesty's reign is both a hallmark of her unique character, as much as it has been an effortless demonstration of her calm and reassuring leadership, not just as Head of the Commonwealth but also as mother of her Royal family. As Stephen Fry said perfectly, "how lucky, lucky, lucky we are to have the Queen as our representative, hooray, hark the new Elizabethan Age!" Please note this lot will be sold with a hand written note in Her Majesty's own hand in pencil and a facsimile of the cheque presented to Her Majesty, Queen Mary from Spink on Thursday 7 October 1948, during a week of Royal charitable endeavours to help raise funds for the Nurse's Pensions Fund. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.

Pearly Queen of Artizan Street, by Ann Carrington, Medium: white buttons on graffiti print velvet. The use of discarded, found and multiples of objects is a fundamental element of Ann Carrington's practice. All objects are saturated with cultural meaning, which she seeks to explore, unravel and investigate. Mundane objects such as knives, forks, barbed wire, pins and paintbrushes come with their ready-made histories and associations which can be deconstructed and analysed to give them new meaning as sculpture.
