Lot 3

(x) The Mercantile Bank of Sydney, Australia, [Top Pop] specimen £50, Brisbane, 1st January 1885, serial number range 00001-01000, here, we present the extremely rare Brisbane £50 specimen from the Mercantile Bank of Sydney. Founded in 1869 by Alexander Campbell, a prominent businessman and politician, the Mercantile Bank of Sydney initially operated as a private bank, offering services such as deposit accounts, loans, and currency exchange. In 1873, it underwent a transformation; it became a joint-stock company, allowing the bank to raise capital from shareholders and significantly expand its operations. This was formalised through its incorporation via a private Act of the New South Wales Parliament, which granted the institution specific privileges and responsibilities. The bank's influence was established across New South Wales through a network of branches and agencies, playing a pivotal role in various regions by facilitating economic growth and supporting trade and investment. The range of financial services it offered proved indispensable for the flourishing commerce and industries of the era. However, as the late 19th century brought changes to the landscape of Australian banking and mergers and acquisitions became commonplace. In 1891, the Mercantile Bank of Sydney was acquired by the Commercial Bank of Australia Limited. Although it ceased to exist as an independent entity, its footprint continued to shape the development of sector and many of its practices formed the bedrock of modern Australian banking. The remarkable legacy of the Mercantile Bank of Sydney, which enjoyed only 22 years of existence, can be encapsulated in this extremely rare banknote. This exceptional artefact is a £50 specimen note, with a serial number range of 1000. Printed specifically for Brisbane on January 1st 1885, by B. W. & Co., London, this note holds the unique distinction of being the sole example ever graded by PMG. Astonishingly, it is the only one that we have been able to trace. This tangible piece of history provides a window into a bygone period of Australian commerce, and serves as a symbol of the bank's lasting impact on the nation's financial heritage (Pick Unlisted, MVR2), in PMG holder 58EPQ Choice About Uncirculated, the sole example graded by PMG Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 14

(x) Commonwealth of Australia, [Top Pop] £10, ND (1934-39), serial number V/1 458394, The £10 note from 1933-36 issues, Shortly after the onset of the Great Depression in 1933, Australian currency underwent a significant change. It was no longer possible to exchange Australian currency for gold at the previously established rate, which had been one gold sovereign equivalent to one pound sterling. Subsequently a new series of legal tender notes was designed. This exquisite 10 pound banknote represents the most valuable and pivotal note from the series issued between 1933 and 1936. The front of the note bearing a portrait of King George V in uniform facing forward, the back of the note feature artwork by Frank Manley based on artist Paul Raphael Mountford's bas-relief panels representing agricultural scenes. This note was printed by John Ash, who succeeded Thomas Harrison as Australian note printer in 1927. This note shares the honour of the finest graded at PMG, sharing the highest about uncirculated grade with only one other note. Showcasing remarkable embossing and vibrant ink, its exceptional condition makes it highly sought-after, particularly by advanced collectors of World, Commonwealth and Australian currency. Truly exceptional (Pick 24, BNB 128, R 57), in PMG holder 58 Choice About Uncirculated Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 56

Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China, China, Remainder 10 Dollars, Tientsin, handwritten 1 January 1917, Established on the 1st of June 1853, in the heart of London, United Kingdom, by the visionary Scottish businessman James Wilson, the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China played a pivotal role in international finance and trade. Its primary mission was to support British businesses and traders in India, Australia, and China, leading to the establishment of branches in key cities such as Calcutta, Bombay, Sydney, Melbourne, and Hong Kong. As British colonial influence extended across Asia, the bank expanded its network to cities like Singapore, Penang, Shanghai, Tientsin (now Tianjin), and beyond. A noteworthy contribution of the Chartered Bank was the introduction of standardized banknotes, like the one presented here. This innovation significantly enhanced trade efficiency and fostered the development of international banking networks. Our featured banknote was issued for Tientsin, a major treaty port and economic hub that played a crucial role in China's engagement with the world during that era, contributing to modernization and foreign relations. Despite facing challenges such as economic crises and World War I, the bank displayed remarkable resilience. Its legacy remains deeply embedded in the shaping of global commerce during the 19th and early 20th centuries, bridging cultures and continents. Printed by W.W. Sprague & Co. in London, this remarkable remainder serves as a magnificent testament to the craftsmanship of its time. It features an intricate design enriched with vivid hues of black, pink, and purple. On the front, a harmonious blend of Chinese and English text reflects the bank's worldwide influence, complemented by an enchanting design featuring a lion rampant, a crowned coat of arms, and a unicorn rampant. The reverse side showcases equally intricate engravings, including an elephant, a palm tree, a crown, a Chinese junk boat, and a sheep hanging from the boat's bow, all set amidst ornate patterns, intricate filigree, and elegant typography. The prominent display of the bank's name, "Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China," reflects its extensive reach and international character, while the artistic motifs and symbols of prosperity on the reverse emphasize the bank's vital role in facilitating economic growth and stability. (Pick S203r, BNB 6263), in PMG holder 35 Choice Very Fine, perforation cancelled, selva included, stains, rare. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. ## Lot 102

(x) Government of Gibraltar / British Administration, specimen £1 = 1 Libra, 6th August 1914, serial number B000000 220,[Top Pop] specimen £1 = 1 Libra, 6th August 1914, serial number B000000 220, Introducing a extraordinary rarity: Gibraltar specimen £1, 1914 Emergency Series B Issues This particular piece holds a unique place in the financial history of Gibraltar during a tumultuous time. Against the backdrop of the outbreak of World War I, Gibraltar introduced a special series of banknotes strategically aimed at preventing the outflow of sterling or gold reserves. These banknotes were authorized under the emergency wartime legislation known as Ordinance 10 of 1914. These notes coexisted with British territory notes of the era, and played a critical role during a time of great financial instability. What sets this specimen apart is its physical attributes it is notably smaller in size compared to the preceding emergency notes, featuring an intricately engraved design. Furthermore, each of these banknotes proudly boasts the embossed stamp of the Anglo-Egyptian Bank Limited. Their ornate design showcases the iconic coat of arms, featuring three castle towers, a skeleton key, and the Latin motto "Montis Insignia Calpe," which translates to 'the badge of the rock of Gibraltar'. Remarkably, this specific banknote has remained elusive to collectors and researchers alike. It leaves no trace in historical records of past sales, and intriguingly, it is conspicuously absent from prominent collections, including the renowned Ibrahim Saleem collection. Its scarcity suggests it is a truly unique artefact, lending an air of mystique to this exceptional piece of Gibraltar's financial history. (Pick 8s, BNB 108as), in PMG holder 50 About Uncirculated, printer's annotations, pinholes, previously mounted, extremely rare, Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£12,000 to £16,000

Lot 103

Government of Gibraltar, [Top Pop] £1 = 1 Libra, 6 August 1914, serial number B059283, The extremely rare and attractive £1 banknote from the 1914 series B emergency issues of Gibraltar's currency. Featuring the printed signature of the Colonial Treasurer Alfred Craven Greenwood, and pleasing green and blue hues. This unique note holds a remarkable place in Gibraltar's financial history, set against the backdrop of the First World War. In response to the outbreak of war, Gibraltar found itself compelled to issue a special series of banknotes; a strategic move aimed at safeguarding its precious sterling and gold reserves from potential depletion. The issuance was authorised under the emergency war legislation known as Ordinance 10 of 1914. These banknotes, coexisting with those of the British territory at the time, assumed pivotal role during a period of financial instability. Distinguished by its distinct physical attributes, this note stands out as notably smaller than its emergency counterparts, boasting a delicately engraved design. Each of these notes carries the emblematic embossed seal of the Anglo-Egyptian Bank Limited. This ornate seal proudly showcases the iconic three-towered coat of arms of Gibraltar, accompanied by a skeleton key and the Latin motto "Montis Insignia Calpe", which translates to 'the symbol of the Rock of Gibraltar'. This circulated note is a rare find, conspicuously absent from renowned collections, including the prestigious Ibrahim Saleem collection. Today, we are thrilled to present this extremely rare note at auction. Remarkably, only two examples of this note have undergone grading by PMG. This note stands as the finest among the three we have traced. Highly sought after by collectors and enthusiasts alike, it encapsulates an exceptional piece of Gibraltar's financial heritage (Pick 8, BNB B108a), in PMG holder 35 Choice Very Fine, a lovely early Gibraltar note with less than handful issued notes known. Extremely rare in this grade. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.

Lot 195

An exceptional and iconic gold-gilded presentation album featuring the HSBC lion prominently adorning its cover and housed within a brown presentation box. Beyond the lot's remarkable contents, it holds a narrative from its original owner and seller of this outstanding rarity. Here is the personal story, which revolves around the close-knit bonds shared by two families-the Welsh Family and the Chappell Family: The genesis of our families' connection can be traced back to the early 1960s, when Tom and my father, Anthony Chappell, met as HSBC bachelors in Singapore. In those days, these dedicated 'International Officers' as they were termed, were obliged to maintain their bachelor status throughout their initial three-year 'tour of duty', residing in specialised bachelor apartment compounds. Such unique circumstances of their lives formed lasting and cherished friendships. My father was Tom's best man during his marriage to his wife Brenda, and subsequently Tom was best man during my father's marriage to his wife Vivien. Brenda and Vivien then became lifelong friends, and never was the bond between the two families more evident than when Brenda appointed Vivien as godmother to her daughter Becky, and my father appointed Tom as godfather to me. HSBC International Officers were frequently relocated to various global offices, necessitating changes in residence and location every two to three years. During this period, my sister, brother, and I were all born in Singapore from 1966 to 1969. We were then posted to Tawau in Borneo for three years, followed by stints in Hong Kong, California for two years, another return to Hong Kong, a brief sojourn in London for two years, and a final return to Hong Kong, until my father's retirement in 1985. During this extensive journey, we were delighted to find the Welsh family were living close by us in Hong Kong from 1981 to 1985, and we were able to spend quality time together once more. Tom Welsh was General Manager of HSBC, where he served as one of the two signatories on the new Hong King banknotes currently available for sale. After receiving a few specimen note albums, he generously gifted me the notes numbers 000011- on my 11th birthday, along with a signed compliment slip and best wishes. N.B. Kindly note that the additional photographs included are for illustrative purposed only and are not part of the lot containing the banknotes. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. ## Lot 199

Commercial Bank of India, Front Proof 5 Rupees, ND (1845), The Extremely rare front Proof 5 Rupees, a testimony of the fascinating chapter in India's financial history. The Commercial Bank of India, was established in 1845 during the British Raj in Bombay Presidency, now Mumbai, it emerged as a prominent financial institution, and established a network of branches across key international cities. These branches included locations like London, Calcutta (now Kolkata), Hong Kong, Fuzhou, Shanghai, Hankou (now part of Wuhan), Yokohama, and Singapore, demonstrating its global presence. Notably, it also maintained an agency in San Francisco for the acquisition of bullion, reflecting its engagement in international trade and finance. Unfortunately, the Commercial Bank of India faced insurmountable financial difficulties and ultimately succumbed to the crash of 1866. This financial crisis led to its downfall, marking the end of its 20-year tenure as a banking institution. In the aftermath of its insolvency, the bank had to undergo a winding-up process as directed by the Master of the Rolls. This winding-up procedure likely followed the relevant sections of the Companies Act of England. Although the bank was registered under Indian law, its international operations necessitated adherence to English regulations, as it conducted business in England as well. The Commercial Bank of India's story is emblematic of the challenges faced by early banks in India during the colonial era. It illustrates the complexities of conducting international banking operations during that time, highlighting the risks and uncertainties associated with the financial sector in the 19th century. While the Commercial Bank of India's existence was remarkably short-lived, it left a lasting impact on the development of banking in India. It serves as a historical reminder of the growth and challenges faced by financial institutions in the British Raj period, contributing to the evolution of India's banking sector in the years to come. This 5 rupees remainder is a remarkable testament to the brief but impactful bank existence. We didn't find any other records of previous sales, leading us to believe that it is possibly unique or at most a handful of survivors, making it an exceedingly rare piece of currency. It's truly amazing how it has arrived in such great condition, serving as a remarkable link to a bygone era. (S174p1) in PMG holder 62 Uncirculated, previously mounted. Subject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.

Lot 226

(x) Government of India, British Administration, [Top Pop] 1000 Rupees, Calcutta, 7th July 1903, serial number PA/99 53857, Outstanding Top Pop 1000 Rupees from Calcutta, When history and rarity intertwine. The Uniface Underprint series of British Indian banknotes carries a fascinating history that began in the year 1867. These banknotes, the first of their kind, were distinguished by their vibrant green hue, a colour that would become emblematic of this unique series. One of the distinctive features of the Underprint series was the use of moulded paper as the printing medium. This choice not only enhanced their durability, but it also set the banknotes apart from their contemporaries. These green series notes were adorned with four language panels, each tailored to the specific Circle of Issue. This diversity of languages reflected the rich cultural tapestry of British India, where different regions spoke different languages. Security was of paramount concern, even in the 19th century, and the Underprint series incorporated several advanced features for its time. Among these were a wavy watermark, intricate guilloche patterns, and a coloured Underprint. Interestingly, the watermark became a source of perplexity for those attempting to date the notes. These banknotes, while a recognised form of currency, came with a notable caveat. They could technically only be encashed within the currency circle of their issue and lacked legal tender status beyond these boundaries. However, in practice, they were readily accepted and encashed within reasonable limits, highlighting their widespread acceptance and utility. The Underprint series maintained its prominence in the currency landscape for several decades, enduring until the 1920s. This period saw the introduction of banknotes bearing the portrait of the reigning monarch, King George V, marking a transition in the history of British Indian currency. The Underprint series, with its vibrant green notes and unique characteristics, left an indelible mark on the annals of paper money and the history of British India. This 1000 rupees Calcutta green issues note, issued on the 7th of July 1903, bears the serial number PA/99 53857 and holds the distinction of being the finest graded by PMG, sharing this esteemed title with just one other banknote. Its rarity, captivating design, substantial size, and significant purchasing power combine to make it a truly exceptional piece. The enduring legacy of this note, which has withstood the test of time and continues to be cherished today, is nothing short of astonishing. (Pick A19ah, BNB 113, Jhun&Rez 2A.7.2A.1), in PMG holder 25 NET Very Fine, spindle holes at issue, restoration, pinholesSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 229

(x) Government of India / British Administration, 2 Rupees, 8 Annas, Bombay, ND (1917), serial number B/6 364601, bold black English text on the front face, accompanied by the GRI (Georgius Rex Imperator) and rayed star watermarks, the portrait of King George V and a green/blue guilloche design. On the reverse of the note is the GRI monogram and a panel of note's denomination in 8 Indian languages, depicting the multicultural milieu of India, which continues to the modern day. The prefix 'B' denotes that this 2/8 rupee note was specifically from Bombay, with other prefixes indicating other areas. The variation of prefix letters is a remnant from earlier in India's history, when notes were only encashable in their circle of issue. This note is remarkable for its marrying of two opposing identities in Indian heritage; the British imperial imagery is blended into the rich spectrum of languages and culture as represented by the panel on the reverse of the note (Pick 2, Jhun&Rez 3.3.1A-F, BNB 136), in PMG holder 58 Choice About Uncirculated Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 239

Reserve Bank of India, 1000 Rupees, Bombay, ND (1937), serial number A/7 103964, there are fantastic rich colours of purple, green and orange on both faces of the banknote. The front face depicts a left-facing portrait of King George VI, wearing the Imperial Crown of India. The back face boasts a striking scene of snow-topped mountains, fir trees, with a panel of languages and the Reserve Bank's seal of a tiger and palm tree respectively on the left and right of the background. An interesting period of Indian history is captured in this note: the imperial rule of the British monarch is dominant through the portrait and the English text on the front face; however the back face is far removed from British imagery. The beautiful landscape and multiple Indian languages displayed on the language panel are apropos to the character and cultural diversity to India's identity (Pick 21a, BNB 205a, Jhun&Rez 4.8.1A), in PMG holder 50 About Uncirculated, staple holes at issue, spindle holes, ink stamp. Estimate
£1,700 to £2,200

Lot 248

(x) Imperial Bank of Persia, specimen 20 Tomans, ND (1890-1923), serial number F/A 02001-07000, a fantastic opportunity to own a slice of history; only known as the Kingdom of Persian until 1935, such notes from so early in Iranian history are hard to come by. These banknotes are highly desirable as mere issued notes, yet we have the pleasure of presenting specimen notes, circa 1890-1923. These notes have superbly vivid colours on both faces; with a portrait of Naser al-Din Shah Qajar on the right of the front face, and the symbolic coats of arms of a lion, sun and sword adorning the left of the front face and the centre of the back face. The serial number range of this particular note, as well as its CANCELLED perforation, suggest it is from 1903. It is in an excellent condition for such a note. Signatories are Arthur F. Grundy and Joseph Rabino (Pick 5s, BNB 107), in PMG holder 58 Choice About Uncirculated Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£4,000 to £6,000

Lot 249

(x) Imperial Bank of Persia, specimen 25 Tomans, ND (1890-1923), serial number V/A 20001-22000, a fantastic opportunity to own a slice of history; only known as the Kingdom of Persia until 1935, such notes from so early in Iranian history are hard to come by. These banknotes are highly desirable as mere issued notes, yet we have the pleasure of presenting specimen notes, circa 1890-1923. These notes have superbly vivid colours on both faces; with a portrait of Naser al-Din Shah Qajar on the right of the front face, and the symbolic coats of arms of a lion, sun and sword adorning the left of the front face and the centre of the back face. The serial number prefix of this note and its handwritten date annotation suggest it is from 1919. It is in an excellent condition for such a note (Pick 6s, BNB 108), in PMG holder 35 Choice Very Fine. Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£4,500 to £6,500

Lot 250

(x) Imperial Bank of Persia, specimen 50 Tomans, ND (1890-1923), serial number H/B 04001-05000, a fantastic opportunity to own a slice of history; only known as the Kingdom of Persia until 1935, such notes from so early in Iranian history are hard to come by. These banknotes are highly desirable as mere issued notes, yet we have the pleasure of presenting specimen notes, circa 1890-1923. These notes have superbly vivid colours on both faces; with a portrait of Naser al-Din Shah Qajar on the right of the front face, and the symbolic coats of arms of a lion, sun and sword adorning the left of the front face and the centre of the back face. The handwritten date annotation suggests that this note is from 1919, however the CANCELLED perforation, addition of the handstamp on the reverse, and the serial number prefix H/B appears to be unlisted. It is in an excellent condition for such a note (Pick 7s, BNB 109), in PMG holder 40 Extremely Fine. Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£5,000 to £8,000

Lot 262

(x) Government of Iraq, 1/4 Dinar, 1st July 1931, serial number A548038, in 1931, the Iraqi government ratified a pivotal legislation known as Law No. 44, formally establishing the Iraqi dinar as the nation's official currency. Several previous attempts to found a national currency had failed for logistical reasons. However, after the formation of the National Bank in 1927, the government finally possessed an institution based in Iraq from which they could issue a currency. Before this, the Indian rupee had been circulated throughout Iraq. Thus, the introduction of Law No.44, and the issuance of dinar notes, such as the one currently offered, represent a significant turning point in the political and economic landscape of Iraq. This superb note presents the portrait of King Faisal I, only featured on the dinar banknotes issued 1931-32 before his untimely death in 1933(Pick 1a, BNB 101), in PMG holder 25 Very Fine, split, stainsSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£9,000 to £12,000

Lot 263

Lot 265

(x) Government of Iraq, 10 Dinars, 1931 (ND 1938), serial number A134058, this superb note is decorated in a vivid purple and blue hues on a multicoloured underprint. Much like the preceding issues, these banknotes were issued in accordance with Law No.44, passed in 1931 to establish the Iraqi dinar as the national currency. Several previous attempts to found a national currency had failed for logistical reasons. However, after the formation of the National Bank in 1927, the government finally possessed an institution based in Iraq from which they could issue a currency. Before this, the Indian rupee had been circulated throughout Iraq. Thus, the introduction of Law No.44, and the issuance of dinar notes, such as the one currently offered, represent a significant turning point in the political and economic landscape of Iraq. The 1934-1940 issues display the portrait of King Ghazi, who assumed the throne in 1933 and is only present on notes produced during this period(Pick 11a, BNB 111), in PMG holder 64 Choice Uncirculated, stains lightenedSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 274

(x) Central Bank of Iraq, Front Printer's Model for 5 Dinars, 1987, serial number N/12 000000, this is a printer's model of an Iraqi 5 dinar banknote. It features a beautifully intricate Girih pattern consisting of purple stars and octagons as a background, positioned above a scene of unknown buildings. On the left and right side of this respectively are a bird carving and a portrait of Saddam Hussein. Notably, this model bears a striking resemblance to the unadopted design intended for the 1990 5 dinar note, although certain differences can be seen in the specific geometric patterns, the state in the foreground, and Hussein's attire. The 1990 notes were not issued due to the invasion of Kuwait in August 1990. As such, this is a remarkable find for any collector and is a unique artefact from a challenging period in Iraq's history(Pick Unlisted), in PMG holder 65 EPQ Gem Uncirculated, possibly uniqueSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£8,000 to £12,000

Lot 275

(x) Central Bank of Iraq, Front Printer's Model for 10 Dinars, 1987, serial number N/12 000000, this is a printer's model of an Iraqi 10 dinar banknote. It is unlike any issued note or unadopted design currently listed. This design boasts beautiful blue and purple hues on the outer border design, and a vivid orange and pink Girih pattern as a backdrop to a green riverbank scene. On the right of the note is a forward-facing carved face dressed in a headaddress. The desuetude of this design could be as a result of the shifting political landscape of the time, as the invasion of Kuwait occurred in 1990, and other proposed banknote designs were also abandoned. This model is a truly remarkable find for any collector and is a unique artefact from a challenging period in Iraq's history(Pick Unlisted), in PMG holder 60 NET Uncirculated, repaired, tears, rareSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Estimate
£8,000 to £12,000

Lot 276

(x) Central Bank of Iraq, Front Printer's Model for 25 Dinars, 1987, serial number N/12 000000, this is a printer's model of an Iraqi 25 dinar banknote. It is unlike any issued note or unadopted design currently listed. This design has beautiful green hues on the outer border design, accentuated by brown, pink and orange. A vivid orange and pink Girih pattern is central above a cluster of foliage. On the right of the note is a forward-facing carved statue, clasping its hands. The desuetude of this design could be as a result of the shifting political landscape of the time, as the invasion of Kuwait occurred in 1990, and other proposed banknote designs were also abandoned. This model is a truly remarkable find for any collector and is a unique artefact from a challenging period in Iraq's history(Pick Unlisted), in PMG holder 63 EPQ Choice Uncirculated, rareSubject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 292

Mauritius Commercial Bank, Front Proof 25 Silver Rupees, ND (1838-40), featuring a Batho & Bingley, London handstamp. This banknote stands out due to its distinctive deviations from the notes that were synchronously available, presenting a wholly unique appearance. It is a specimen note from the Mauritius Commercial Bank, a 25 silver rupee note, featuring a currently unlisted design. Despite this, it shares a common waterfront scene with Picks S122, S126, and S127. It also duplicates the decorative element encompassing the denomination of '20' on the S125 banknote. What sets this particular specimen apart is its angular composition and typography, resembling the later Oriental Bank Corporation notes, whereas other designs by the Commercial Bank feature curved typesetting. Altogether an interesting and unique banknote(Unlisted), in PMG holder 63 Choice Uncirculated, previously mountedSubject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. Estimate
£1,500 to £2,500

Lot 302

Bank of Australasia, New Zealand, specimen, £50, Wellington, April 1930, serial number 00000, this £50 specimen note holds a unique quality because it features a date that is presently unlisted. It bears the date of April 1930 and is attributed to the Wellington office of issue. Interestingly, this date is beyond the known period of 1923-4 for such notes and Pick does not include a reference to office of issuance for S136 notes. The note displays striking bright red and brown hues, and its reverse side boasts the emblem of the Bank of Australasia in the same vivid colours as the front face. This exceptional banknote is truly rare; in fact, SCWPM has yet to include an illustration of S136. This is a testament to its scarcity and makes it a highly desirable item for passionate collectors(Pick S136s), in PMG holder 55EPQ About UncirculatedSubject to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium. For more information please view Terms and Conditions for Buyers.

Lot 321

(x) Qatar & Dubai Currency Board, 50 riyals, ND (1960s), serial number A/1 753105, The Qatar and Dubai currency board. The introduction of the Qatar-Dubai riyal in 1966 was a result of a unique historical context and a series of complex economic and political factors that led Qatar and Dubai to adopt a common currency. The decision to establish a joint currency reflected the close economic ties between the two regions and their efforts to promote economic cooperation and stability. Along with other Trucial States (the precursor to the United Arab Emirates), Qatar and Dubai were part of the area of the Gulf region undergoing rapid economic changes due to the discovery of oil reserves. This economic transformation created opportunities for economic cooperation and trade among these neighbouring states. Prior to the introduction of the Qatar-Dubai riyal, both Qatar and Dubai issued their own currencies. However, the use of multiple currencies in close geographical proximity posed challenges in trade, cross-border transactions, and financial stability of the region. To address this, Qatar and Dubai sought a common currency arrangement to simplify these processes. During the 1960s, both Qatar and Dubai were undergoing political changes. Qatar gained independence from Britain in 1971, and Dubai was part of the larger Trucial States that were in discussions to form a federation. These political developments likely influenced the decisions related to currency unification. It is important to note that while the Qatar-Dubai riyal was introduced with the intention of fostering economic cooperation and simplifying financial transactions, it was only a temporary arrangement. The currency was used for a relatively short period, from 18th September 1966 to 17th August 1973, precisely 90 days after Dubai joined the newly formed United Arab Emirates (UAE) and subsequently adopted the UAE dirham as its official currency. Qatar also introduced its own Qatari riyal in 1973, marking its complete separation from the shared currency arrangement (Pick 5a), in PMG holder 64 Choice Uncirculated Subject to 5% tax on Hammer Price in addition to 20% VAT on Buyer's Premium.

Lot 333

Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China, unissued $500, Singapore, 18--, A Paramount denomination of The Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China, The Unissued $500 for Singapore, Established on June 1, 1853, in the heart of London, United Kingdom, by the visionary Scottish entrepreneur James Wilson, the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China stands as an illustrious institution that has significantly shaped the landscape of global finance and commerce. With a mission dedicated to facilitating the interests of British enterprises and traders operating in the regions of India, Australia, and China, the bank swiftly extended its presence, establishing branches in pivotal cities like Calcutta, Bombay, Sydney, Melbourne, and Hong Kong. As the influence of British colonialism spread across Asia, the bank further expanded its network, reaching cities such as Penang, Shanghai, Tientsin (now known as Tianjin), and Singapore. Even in the face of formidable challenges, including economic crises and the tumultuous era of World War I, the Chartered Bank displayed remarkable resilience, securing its position as a steadfast financial institution. A hallmark achievement of the Chartered Bank was its groundbreaking introduction of standardized banknotes, a move that revolutionized trade efficiency and played a pivotal role in nurturing the growth of international banking networks. Presented here is a splendid example of the bank's legacy, a magnificent , unissued 500 dollar banknote, an esteemed denomination produced by Batho & Co., London. This banknote serves as a testament to the remarkable craftsmanship of its era. It boasts an exquisite design, skilfully blending hues of black, grey, and tan, harmoniously weaving together both Chinese and English text to encapsulate the bank's truly global character. The note prominently features a captivating design, including a majestic lion rampant, a crowned coat of arms, and a striking unicorn rampant. The prominent display of the bank's name, "Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China," serves as a testament to its far-reaching influence and international prominence. This banknote is a remarkable artifact of its time, reflecting not only the bank's legacy but also the economic vitality of Singapore, a British colony within the Straits Settlements. Singapore flourished as a hub of global trade, with a focus on commodities such as rubber, tin, spices, and various other goods. Its strategic location along vital maritime routes led to continuous enhancements in its port facilities, solidifying its status as a major player in the worldwide trading arena. In summary, the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China's historical significance remains undeniable, and the extremely rare banknote showcased here, with his paramount denomination stands as a tangible reminder of its enduring impact on the international financial landscape.
