China, Warring States Period, [Zhong Qian 80] bronze 'Wan Qian Yuan', 395-225 B.C., from the State of Wei, obverse inscribed 'Yuan' (name of a city in Wei), 40.8x1.6mm, weighs 8.7g, (Harthill 6.3). 'Wan Qian Yuan' were first circulated in the State of Wei, with the city Yuan among the first to mint them. Its design quickly propagated to most of the other states due to the ease of use relative to earlier forms of money in the period, with its shape an obvious progenitor to later currency which has a round shape but a square hole. Historically important.

China, Five Dynasties & Ten Kingdoms Period, [Zhong Qian 80] iron 10 cash, 'Qian Feng Quan Bao', 907-951, from the Kingdom of Southern Chu, type with smaller 'Tian' at upper quadrant on reverse, 34.9x3.2mm, weighs 19.2g. The region of Southern Chu has little copper deposits, hence the use of iron for its currency. The heavy weight of iron cash plus the ban of the currency's usage in other kingdoms meant that merchants were forced to trade cash for goods instead, which lead to a prosperous economy in the region. Rare.
